The Photo Detective Maureen Taylor

Maureen Taylor, known as the Photo Detective is an internationally recognized expert on the intersection of history, genealogy and photography. She has been featured in top media outlets including "Today," "The View," The Wall Street Journal, Martha Stewart Living and Better Homes and Gardens. She is the author of numerous books and magazine articles, as well as contributing editor for Family Tree Magazine.

For the past 10 years, Taylor has employed a variety of diagnostic techniques, combining genealogy, art history, costume history and cultural anthropology in her work dating and identifying the subjects in photos. The Wall Street Journal has called her "the nation's foremost historical photo detective."

Margaret Duerr Award Night

Friends of the Charlevoix Public Library

Friday, September 18, 7-8 pm Free to the public.

Maureen will show examples of several photos she has worked on through the years and the clues that brought the pictures to life. She will also share basic steps of her detective work.
